Snow in October?

Photo credit: <https://www.cbc.ca/news/canada/saskatoon/>

This week, Saskatoon had a snowfall on October 14th! Is this unusual?

While most of the snow occurs between November and February, Saskatchewan has on average, at least a centimetre of snow on the ground for more than one-third of the year! Generally, there is not snow in Saskatchewan between June and August but the only month where snow has not been recorded is July!

Snow offers beautiful scenery and a lot of fun activities such as sledding, skating, skiing and snowshoeing. We need a lot more snow before we can do these activities, but the first snowfall always gets us excited for what is ahead. Students who live in Canada can enjoy the winter and the snow when they are prepared. What is the weather like where you are studying from? Send us a photo!
