Halloween in Canada

Each year, on October 31st, Canada celebrates a holiday called Halloween.

The name “Halloween” comes from the name Hallows Eve. Hallows Eve was the name given to the evening before All Saints Day.

Introduced to Canada by Irish and Scottish immigrants in the 1800s, the Halloween holiday originates from the Celtic festival of Samhain when people wore costumes and lit bonfires to welcome the harvest and scare off ghosts (there was a belief that there were no barriers between the physical world and the spirit world on this night). October 31st was also significant because it marked the midpoint between the fall equinox and the winter solstice.

Today, Halloween is still celebrated by wearing costumes, but it now includes activities such as carving jack-o-lanterns (hollowed out root vegetables with a candle in it), trick-or-treating (candy or tricks!) and spooky decorations!

If you are celebrating this year, Send us a photo!
