Autumnal Equinox

September 22nd marks the start of the fall season in the Northern Hemisphere. Equinox is a Latin word meaning “equal night”.

What happens on this day? The sun crosses an imaginary extension of the Earth's equator into space going from north to south. On this day, day and night are roughly equal in length. After this, days become shorter than nights until the winter solstice.

Fall is a beautiful season in the Northern Hemisphere so be sure to take photos of the changing leaves!

Getting social outside of the classroom

There are many groups, centres and events to support students outside of the classroom. Each of these adds to your student experience giving you the opportunity to make new friends and learn more about campus and community.

This website shares with you the many contacts and places that can make your student experience amazing! Be sure to check out the USSU Hub where you can find what student groups are out there. Building Bridges is also an excellent experience to develop respect and cultural understanding between Indigenous and non-Indigenous (both domestic and international) students.
