The curious bear

Source:

youtube

At first, he was following the bear to take photos but then, the bear started to follow him!

Thankfully, the photographer is trained in how to deal with a bear encounter and was even able to capture it all on video.

Bear attacks are rare but this video shows the importance of being prepared in the wilderness.

Student Advising

Lynn can help you with questions about the English program, university studies, problems that might happen during the term, or suggest campus or community resources. Contact Lynn at uslc.studentadvisor@usask.ca with your questions or to make an appointment.
